BAY ST. LOUIS, MISS., FRIDAY, MARCH 13, 1931

FORTIETH YEAR, No. 11

HISTORY OF BAY ST. LOUIS AS TOLD BY LUCIEN M. GEX BEFORE LUNCHEON CLUB

Inhabited Long Before 1699—Discovered by Filibusters of D'Iberville—Women From France For Domestic Purpose—Some Old Family Names.

The history of Bay St. Louis is always interesting. There has been much said and written about the primitive days of this section, about the romance and other phases of human existence.

At a meeting of Bay St. Louis Rotary Club, on Wednesday of last week, Lucien M. Gex, rising young lawyer, was the invited speaker. His subject was Historical Bay St. Louis. So well was it received, proving of valued information, authentic, that the Echo herewith prints part of that address. Our readers will be indebted for this both to Mr. Gex and to the Rotary Club as well.

Mr. Gex said in part: "This beautiful city of Bay St. Louis was inhabited long before 1699 when discovered by filibusters of famous D'Iberville. Before this period it was inhabited by an Indian tribe called the Colapissas. The Indians called the place Chou-Cou-ou, which means had grass or Rock-a-chew."

"It might be noted here that these filibusters were not the first white men to come to the shores of Bay St. Louis, for while exploring the different rivers, lakes and bays they came in contact with the famous Chevalier d'Artois who had come with LaSalle in 1682 to the mouth of the Mississippi river. He remained when LaSalle returned and was living amongst the Colapissas Indians."

"While D'Iberville with his two brothers, Bienville and Sauvolle, accompanied by fifty-four filibusters, were traveling from New Orleans to Biloxi they met with a severe storm or tropical hurricane and were shipwrecked between Biloxi and Cat Island and clinging to the wreckage were washed ashore somewhere between Bookter and Main street, supposedly where the Catholic church now stands. To show their appreciation to the Almighty, for having saved them, they erected a shrine on the spot where 'Our Lady of the Gulf' church was later built."

"After living the first winter under the moss-covered cypress and live oak trees, the filibusters returned for domestic life and for the coming of spring explored D'Iberville to return to France to bring over a cargo of wives for them. This D'Iberville did. On his arrival with the cargo of women the question arose as to how these women were to be given a name. He ran in chronological order from one to twenty, this being the number of women brought by D'Iberville."

M'QUEEN OUT FOR CO. SUP'T

Well-Known School Man of Hancock County Formally Announces Candidacy

In this issue of the county paper will be found the formal announcement of Albert S. McQueen, well-known school man, who is a candidate for county superintendent of education for Hancock county.

Formally residing in the northwestern portion of the county, for the past five years he has been principal of the school at Lakeshore, and so well has he administered to the success of that trust he has been appointed year after year. Patrons of the Lakeshore-Clement Harbor district praise his work highly and speak of him personally in the highest regard.

Mr. McQueen received his grammar school education in Hancock county, of which he is a native son. Then he attended Pearl River County Agricultural High School and later for his professional training at the State Teachers' College. Thus he is fitted for the trust both by education and practical experience in the school room, having taught eight years in all.

During the month, 1918, he answered his country's call and enlisted, going across and served in France over a period of one year, with that valor and distinction characterizing the true soldier.

Mr. McQueen is yet a young man with considerable experience to his credit. If he is elected, he says, it is his intention to give the office his fullest time and attention. This is an ambition, he says, and hopes the voters of the county will see fit to give him the opportunity to prove it. "I have devoted all of my past life to the cause of education," he says, "and I hope to be able to continue, however, this time I wish to serve in that broader scope of county superintendent."

BAY CITY ROTARIANS HEAR ADDRESSES ABOUT ROCKEFELLER'S BIG GIFTS

George R. Rea, Returned From Chicago, Tells of University of Chicago—Libraries and Stained Windows Win Admiration.

Aside from expression and practice of high ideals for which the club stands, Bay St. Louis Rotarians are gaining each week by programs that prove of constructive interest, varied, Every Wednesday there is an outstanding number and the speaker tells of something worth while. Travel and the things observed are always of compelling interest. George R. Rea, national treasurer, Kappa Sigma chapter, recently returned from Chicago, spoke to Rotarians this week, telling of the University of Chicago and John Rockefeller's munificent benefactions. He was followed by Dr. C. M. Shipp, who supplemented what had been said about Rockefeller and his gifts to humanity. He told what Rockefeller was doing for science, that he was mediating's greatest benefactor and told of what his money was doing for Tulane medical department at New Orleans, about the newest building over there and for its super-equipment. That Rockefeller is an outstanding benefactor was well brought out by Dr. Shipp's aftertalk and also by Mr. Rea in the main address.

In the allotted fifteen minutes given to speakers before the Rotary Club, Mr. Rea, among other things said: "John D. Rockefeller, the philanthropist, has done a wonderful amount of good to humanity with his generous donations towards education and the prevention and cure of diseases. Already his donations have amounted to five hundred million dollars. Other countries have enjoyed the benefits of his charity."

"One may father and son continue to live such useful lives so mankind may call them blessed."

go, (non-sectarian) was founded in 1890 by John D. Rockefeller. This University today has buildings valued at $3 million dollars and Endowment of $5 millions, thus making it one of the richest Universities in this country. The present enrollment is 11,000 students. The architecture of the buildings is Gothic style constructed of gray stone situated in series of quadrangles, covering 140 acres.

Rockefeller has Rotary Idea.
"Mr. John D. Rockefeller, Jr., recently gave $5,000,000 with which to erect a handsome dormitory which is about half completed, to be called the 'International House' to house foreign students from all countries. Some few selected students from U. S. A. will occupy the same quarters in order to bring about a stronger brotherhood and better feeling between other nations and ours. In this way foreigners will quicker adopt our ideals of government and living. Mahatma Gandhi of India was educated in England and he said he was highly educated in Oxford, England, but they could not make an Englishman out of him. Should Gandhi have attended the University of Chicago and lived at the 'International House' he possibly would have been made a good American. Mr. Rockefeller has in mind the Rotary idea of world wide peace and the promotion of good will and service among men."

Chapel Costs Two Million Dollars.
"The University of Chicago has 17 libraries which contain a total of one million volumes. The University of Chicago has seven chapels given by various donors. The largest of these was given by Mr. Rockefeller which cost $2,000,000 and it also has an endowment of one million dollars. The smallest chapel is the most beautiful. It will seat about 50 people. The choir does most of the singing."

M'DONALD AND SON IN FINE BLDG.

Lumber Shed of Unusual Size And Stability of Construction Adds to City

Wholesale firm of W. A. McDonald & Son have just completed as an addition to their regular store building what in their business is termed a lumber shed, and is one of the finest and best planned building of its kind and for the purpose in this section and possibly anywhere else. Those who have seen the structure can best appreciate the idea this article would like to convey.

Approximately 140 feet in length it faces Estabrook street, and the West end sets on the line of Toule street. To the west the 45-foot depth faces the First Baptist Church, while to the north the back runs parallel with a line marking Cedar Rest cemetery.

Heavy foundations of reinforced concrete serve as a lasting foundation and is in keeping with the substantial manner and better material of which the structure is built. Only the best of lumber was employed, with a heavy iron roof to protect the stock of all sizes of lumber that the different bins will house. The bins are so arranged, into so many compartments, that it is possible to get to any size of lumber that may be desired to fill an immediate order without disturbing sizes not wanted and thus facilitating serving a customer quicker and with more accuracy as to just what is wanted.

Designed and planned by the junior member of the firm, John J. McDonald, which has been pronounced technically correct in proportions and material specifications, the building was constructed by Peter J. Boudin, contractor and builder of Bay St. Louis, who has to his credit many years of experience.

In front of the building, on Estabrook street there are two small buildings, one a special warehouse for the firm, and the other the night watchman's quarters. These will be moved across the street to be set to the rear of the main store building. It is planned to treat that section of yard separating the building from the sidewalk with lawn and certain shrubbery, making the space one of inviting and ornamental appeal. Mr. McDonald, Jr., says his firm is as much interested in the civic welfare and appearances of the city as they are in their own business and it is their intention to surround this fine building with just such landscape treatment as its usage and purpose will permit.

At present the sign painter is at work, lettering the firm's advertising in that representative workmanship that will be in keeping with the entire enterprise. Mr. W. P. Witter, local artist, is engaged in the work. Messrs. W. A. McDonald & Son have built well known buildings in many parts of the city. In a commercial sense they have again contributed to the asset of the city. They are enterprising and progressive business men and as such are recognized wherever known. They have an extensive grocery and supply department, are known over many States of the country.

MARCH 19 DATE FOR BENEFIT

Star Reporter of Echo Witnesses Practice Basketball Game For Hospital Benefit.

Managing editor of The Echo, aware practices were in progress at night for the forthcoming basketball benefit, Bay St. Louis King's Daughters Hospital, which will take place at the Convent gym on the night of March 19, sent a star reporter to report what he saw and to tell our readers something that would be of more intimate interest than merely a stereotyped newspaper report.

The reporter says it was too thrilling for him to write about it. So he was asked to tell about what he saw and of the benefit the best way he knew how, and this is what he said while our fair shorthand writer jotted down the story as follows:

"I was in the Convent gym the other night watching the basketball practice of the 'King's Daughters' Tigrisses' for the big basketball game, scheduled for March 19, at 8:15 P. M., when they will meet the 'Bay Cats' an independent team of Bay St. Louis girls."

"The Tigrisses certainly look good to me and I'm afraid the Bay Cats will be going to the cup which will be presented by His Honor, Mayor Traub, to the winning team. 'Leavin' Gex and Susan play the game, the stellar forward of the Cats, will find good guards in Kinta Smith and Rebecca Seals. Yvonne Tremoulet, Mary Bourgeois, and Ione Canty will find it pretty hard to keep Lillian Marshall, Nettie Partridge from ringing goals every two seconds. Muriel Peppere and Susie Weston are going to lead Virginia Chapman and Katherine Erwin in the center a merry chase. It is hard to discern which are the stellar players on the team as Ethel Yates, Celia Osoinach, Sarah Power, Minnie Moreau, Emma Ivy, Mair Weston, Louise Crawford, Katrina McDonald, Irma Rahy play well at any position on the team."

Coach Hermie Perkins told me that she hasn't decided what the line up will be but that her team is out to win that cup on March 19. "Mary Perkins, coach for the Cats, said she was planning on her team making a big showing against the Tigrisses. Ethel Logan and Irma Raub show good pass work at guards. Flo Plunum is coming to the front in ringing goals with Leland Davis while Hazel Kergosien is vying for first place with Kat. Erwin in the center. Mary Perkins told me this game would be doubly interesting to the public as it would be a contest for the coveted cup for the city champion in basketball and that the proceeds will go to the King's Daughters Hospital. Tickets will be on sale Monday."

Remember, everybody, go and see the big game between King's Daughters' Tigrisses and the Bay Cats on the night of March 19, at 8:15 P. M. at A. gym. Admission 25 and 15 cents. This is a big event and both teams are having strenuous work-outs. Help the hospital.

MANY FROM BAY ST. LOUIS JOURNEY TO GULFPORT FOR SHOW

Spring Style Revue at Paramount Theater Proves Outstanding Attraction.

Quite a number of people from Bay St. Louis on Monday evening journeyed to Gulfport and attended the performance at the Paramount Theater, which included a spring style revue, along with a musical program, with singing with Hitzman & Lewis, Exclusive Shop, and Bolton-Joyce shoe store. The advertisement attracted many people from along the Coast.

For the occasion the floral decorations were arranged by Allendale Flower Shop and the sporting goods were from Connell's Inc., and the music was by Slade Bros. Orchestra. A platform for the promenade of the models was built into the center of the theatre and throughout the show colored lights played over the models. Frank J. Kroulik of radio station WOCM was master of ceremonies and broadcast the revue by remote control over a microphone placed on the stage at the theatre.

A group of Coast girls and women formed the modeling personnel, presenting with charming arrangement the very lovely spring styles, and wearing the latest in fashion hats for every occasion and shoes to correspond to each costume. A striking pajama suit was shown. Long skirts, frilly sleeves, short jackets, bandeau hats, were among the distinguishing features of the new styles. Those who modeled were Miss Roberta Baxley, Loretta, Miss Edwina Collier, Emily Farrell, Bettye Hixley, Nora Belle Kent, Mary Carl Patton, Helen Hhorner, Ada Wilmond, Mrs. Peggy Cause, Mrs. Robert Young and Mrs. Lynn Valentine, and wee Miss Jean White, daughter of Mrs. and Mr. J. L. White, who served as flower girl in the June wedding. Joseph Casarella, model of men's wearing apparel.

Grubb, rector, was recipient of a reception at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Clarence L. Horton at their residence on the North Beach Boulevard Monday evening at 6 o'clock.

There were quite a number of friends assembled and for the occasion the home was decorated on every table with spring flowers. In the receiving line were Mrs. C. L. Horton, Mrs. Nye, Mrs. C. A. Worsley, Mrs. W. H. Chapman, Sr.

A plate lunch was served. The affair was given under auspices of the Vestry and Guild and was one of the outstanding features of the Bishop's three-day visit to this section of the Gulf Coast.

State Says It Has No Record of Bootlegged Gasoline to Stations

Carl C. White, state auditor in a letter to the Gulfport-Biloxi Herald, announces he expects to come to the Coast later in the week to investigate reports which have reached Jackson relative to the alleged bootlegging of gasoline at Gulfport. Mr. White states in his letter that the State has a check on all gasoline shipped into Mississippi in railroad cars, but it has no way of checking gasoline brought into the State by automobile trucks.

MAN LOSES LIFE AUTO ACCIDENT

"Red" Wade Victim of Own Car When Bus Crashes at Head of Washington Street.

William Andrew Wade, native of Grace county, Kentucky, aged 37 years, was almost instantly killed in an automobile and bus collision at a late hour Monday evening on South Beach Boulevard, head Washington street.

Wade was driving his own Chevrolet car along Washington street, headed for the beach. The bus, one of the Teche Transfer Company's property, was moving along the Beach road en route to New Orleans. Wade turned the corner of Washington and headed in the direction from which the bus was emerging. The bus caught this car on the side at a point about where the steering wheel is located and crashed into it with full force.

It is stated by onlookers, and who saw the bus pass before the fatal crash, that it was exceeding the prescribed limit by an excessive speed and the crash was inevitable. The Wade car a mass of debris was dragged about one hundred feet and thrown over to the beach side of Front street. When Wade was extricated he was found unconscious. Taken to the Bay St. Louis King's Daughters Hospital it was found he had both legs broken, a hip fractured and his chest crushed; the latter injury proving fatal. On the back of his neck as singularly as it may appear he had two deep gashes that formed in perfect symmetry of the image of a cross. He died at the hospital when laid on the operating table.

Seated with him was a brother, who escaped with only a minor injury to one arm.

The bus had both headlights broken and part of its front structure, however, with aid of its center spotlight, it was able to resume its journey to New Orleans after its death-dealing plunge in the very heart of the city and on one of the most prominent boulevards of the city.

Wade is survived by his widow and four children of which number is a two-week-old baby. He was a valued employee in the mechanical department of the Chevrolet garage and his employer speaks very highly of his services and loyalty, and expressed regret at the loss.

Outside of his immediate family, who reside in Citizen street, Wade's parents reside at Henderson, Kentucky, with other relatives at Wiggins, Miss. He came to this city about five or six years ago and has ever since resided here, a steady worker.

The body was taken to Wiggins Thursday morning by motor route where it was interred. Mrs. Wade, residing at Wiggins with her parents before her marriage.

It was at first thought that the body would be taken to Henderson, Ky., where the deceased's father is engaged in the tobacco-growing industry.

SPLENDID PROGRAM AND ELECTION OF OFFICERS MARK P. T. A. MEETING

Wholesome and Happy Mental Atmosphere of Home Is Subject of March Meeting—Mrs. J. A. Evans Has Worthy Successor.

E. N. HAAS IS CALLED BY DEATH

A Pioneer Lumberman of The South, Succumbs at Morning.

Elisha Nicholas Haas, aged 64, pioneer lumberman of South Mississippi, succumbed to pneumonia at his home Haaswood, La., Monday morning at 5:45 A. M.

Mr. Haas was born at Kiln, Miss., May 16, 1866. In 1894 he was married to Alice Norton Herlihy. He resided in Kiln until the death of his wife in 1907. He then moved his lumber and mercantile business to Waveland.

In 1912 he again moved—this time to a few miles north of Slidell, La., where he operated a mill, Naval stores, and retail store until his death.

Mr. Haas was known for his many acts of charity, his love for his fellowmen.

It was often remarked that "his heart was as big as his body." He was an active member of the Catholic Faith, a devoted husband and a loving father. He leaves behind a trail marked with many blessings.

He leaves to mourn his loss six children; three daughters: Mrs. E. H. Schroth of New Orleans; Mrs. R. D. Hayes of Haaswood; Mrs. H. H. Gaunt of New Orleans; and three sons: Michael E. Haas of New Orleans; Arnold A. Haas of Haaswood; and J. Norton Haas of Bay St. Louis; also six grandchildren and a large host of friends who mourn his passing.

Funeral services were conducted Wednesday from Kiln, Miss. Catholic church and interment in the Kiln cemetery. The funeral was largely attended, many friends from Waveland and Bay St. Louis making the journey for the sad occasion. Mr. Haas was favorably known wherever acquainted, and that such a loss to the community was a tribute to his memory was but just and expected. He lived a long and useful life and his memory will ever remain with those who knew him.

Years ago when he resided near Kiln, where he was in business, he was a frequent visitor to Bay St. Louis, known here perhaps as a member of the well-known firm of Herlihy & Haas, and was then practically known to every Bay St. Louis resident.

The Echo notes the demise of this long-time friend with more than ordinary and we sympathize with a point about where the steering wheel is located and crashed into it with full force.

Local Bank Increases
Safe Facilities And Added Bank Security.

Merchants Bank & Trust Company took out one of its larger steel safes Tuesday and has placed in its stead another safe of later make and improved locking mechanism in order to add to its facilities—increasing room and adding security to funds, and his chest crushed; the latter injury proving fatal. On the back of his neck as singularly as it may appear he had two deep gashes that formed in perfect symmetry of the image of a cross. He died at the hospital when laid on the operating table.

The new safe finally put in position, within the vault, Wednesday and increase the facilities for Bay St. Louis banking security and accommodation.

Prices Fixed For "Gulf Park Frolics" Rotary Benefit, April 17

In order that the greatest number of people may attend the Rotary Club benefit entertainment, "Gulf Park Frolics," to be given at Central School Auditorium on the evening of Friday, April 17, prices were set by the committee in charge at 35 cents general admission, 60 cents includes reserved seats and 20 cents for children, including school pupils. This will insure a "packed-house."

The personnel of the ladies committee in charge has undergone a slight change and was announced officially at the Wednesday luncheon meeting as follows: Miss Elsa Mauffray, chairman; Mrs. Jas. A. Evans, Mrs. George R. Rea, Mrs. C. C. McDonald, Mrs. C. M. Shipp, Mrs. H. U. Canty, Mrs. C. G. Moreau, Miss Hermie Perkins.

The gentlemen's committee stands composed of: Dr. Jas. A. Evans, Geo. R. Rea, Dr. C. M. Shipp.

The regular monthly meeting of the Parent-Teacher Association was held at Central School, Tuesday, March 10th, at 3:15 P. M. The President, Mrs. J. A. Evans, disposed of the customary preliminaries in due order and in her capable manner called the meeting to order.

The program included a piano solo, by Miss Bessie Mitchell, a member of the freshman class, who showed marked ability. Miss Marion Ingram, also a first-year student, entertained the audience with a reading which proved that the first-year Spoken English Class is making rapid strides toward our goal for success. These students were under the leadership of Mrs. Renaud and Givens.

Mrs. Douglas Bourgeois, secretary, read the minutes of the February meeting, followed by roll call. The treasurer, Mrs. Chas. Mitchell, reported settlement of various bills, including that for the milk being furnished under-nourished children, with no collections. Members of the organization volunteered to donate homemade candy to replenish the treasury. All are urged to buy.

The feature of the program was the inspiring talk by Mrs. D. F. Jacobs. Mrs. Jacobs, although she has been in our midst less than a year, proved a most valuable addition to any organization. In a very forceful manner she conveyed to her listeners the value of "Wholesome and Happy Mental Atmosphere of the Home." Wholesome living depends on wholesome thinking. The need for quiet intervals should be satisfied to establish mental balance. Undue physical inertia is always a danger signal. We must keep our mental home free from dirt and filth. It is the duty of every home to preserve a balance of courage and good cheer.

The election of officers resulted in Mrs. R. B. Logan, president; Mrs. Leo W. Seal, vice-president; Mrs. Milton Phillips, secretary, and Mrs. Chas. Mitchell, treasurer. Mrs. Evans, who has served most efficiently during the past two years declined to accept the office for another year although it was evident that the organization would have gladly had her in this position. Mrs. Evans has made a most excellent executive and her two-years were filled with many worth-while accomplishments due to her untiring efforts.

April business meeting will be held the first week in the month as "Father's Night" will be the third week.

Surely a stop should be put to the sale of "bootleg" gasoline in Hancock and Harrison counties, on which no revenue accrues to either county. It is true motor vehicle owners save a few cents, on every gallon of gas purchased from the stations selling the "bootleg" gas on which no tax is collected, but we believe county pride should govern in such a matter, and patronage given to the stations handling gas upon which a tax is levied. Every cent collected from the sale of gas on which the tax is levied goes for construction and maintenance of our public roads and highways.

A HELP BOTH WAYS.

According to a report issued a few days since by the department of commerce more than $2,000,000 will be spent this year in highway construction. In addition to this vast sum $5,500,000 will be expended by the federal government, State and local enterprises. Turning loose so much money in one year should go a long way toward bringing back normal conditions.

SHOULD KEEP HIS PROMISES.

Notwithstanding his announced intention to give the press a reply to what Judge Walter A. White had to say about his wholesale pardoning of penitentiary convicts Gov. Bilbo has failed to keep his promise—just like he did when he said he would make public the replies he received from members of the legislature with regard to another session of the law-makers. Theodore should keep his promises.

A RIGHT AND PRIVILEGE

Next August when the Democratic primaries are held it will be the right and privilege of anybody who cares to challenge the vote of the Hoovercrats who offer to cast a ballot. And it is a right and privilege that should be exercised by every Democrat who is interested in purging the party of a disloyal element.

PROMINENT CITIZENS APPOINTED.

Two of Bay St. Louis most prominent and outstanding citizens, Messrs. Waldo Otis and Robert L. Genin have been appointed by Governor Bilbo as delegates to the annual conference of the American Shore and Beach association to be held at Norfolk, Virginia, April 13-14.

ONE THING CERTAIN.

Of one thing The Echo is certain and that is the Sixth congressional district will not lose its present able representative, the Hon. Robert S. Hall, under the apportionment to be made next year, provided, of course, if he wishes re-nomination.

NOT BAD ADVICE.

Six negroes died in the electric chair the other day and note signed by each of them read: "Tell all the younger generation to obey the law and listen to what the white folks tell them." Not bad advice, but will it be heeded by the younger generation. We doubt it.

DECLARE A TRUCE.

Governor Huey Long and the New Orleans ring politicians have declared a truce and henceforth will work in harmony. It is a queer combination, but we hope it will not be hurtful to the best interests of Louisiana and the city.

SOME NERVE.

Rush H. Knox has had the monumental nerve and gall to announce his candidacy for attorney general, the office he resigned some months since to escape impeachment by the legislature.

Building up a successful business is not all luck, regardless of what the young man just out of college may be inclined to think.

The loans to the veterans ought to put a lot of extra money into circulation in Hancock county. Every little bit helps now.

Henry Ford is reported saying there is no prosperity unless all are prosperous; in that case, brother, there has been no prosperity.

Now that Congress has voted "The Star Spangled Banner" the national anthem it might be a good idea to find somebody who can sing it.

Efforts to make a hero out of the President, on account of his veto of the Soldier's Bonus Bill, are a flat failure. The facts simply are that the walls of Andy Mellon, from the Treasury, sounded louder in his ears than the walls of the needy. Fortunately, even the members of his own party in Congress had courage and good sense enough to repudiate him and to give the soldier the measure of recognition which every self-respecting nation has always considered to be the warrior's due.

STILL UNRECOGNIZED.

The United States continues not to "recognize" the government of Soviet Russia. Like the ostrich with its head buried, our nation ignores actual facts. The State Department recently reiterated the essentials for Russia to comply with to obtain our motive, as follows:

"Restoration of the property seized from American citizens in Russia, valued at millions; repeal of the decree which repudiated the war debt of former Russia governments to the United States, now amounting, with interest, to $308,000,000, and cessation of propaganda designed to overthrow the established institutions of American government."

In regard to the last item, American officials say that the Soviet plans to campaign among the negroes of the South, demanding "self-determination" for them. The aims of the "self-determination" plan are set forth as including "confiscation of the lands of the white land-owners . . . for the benefit of negro peasantry," and the establishment of "political unity" of the race.

Notwithstanding all this, our failure to admit officially the existence of the Russian Government doesn't alter the fact of its being in control of a vast part of Europe and Asia. Nor does it obliterate the fact that its political and economic experiment, if successful, will affect all other nations.

ELECTRIC CHAIR MOST HUMANE.

It is to be hoped that Mississippi will soon follow the example of Missouri and several other States and abolish the use of the gallows in putting to death persons convicted of capital crimes. The electric chair affords a less painful death and is far more humane than hanging according to the best scientific evidence available. There is abundant testimony from men who have witnessed numerous hangings that a majority of such executions are bungled and the victim dies of slow strangulation more often than from a broken neck. There is also another good reason for a change in the present method of inflicting the death penalty, and that is a hanging attracts at all times the attendance of the morbidly curious element of our citizenship, and more especially boys and young men to the place of execution, even though public hangings have for some years been abolished by law. Every person sentenced to death should pay the law's penalty at the State penitentiary in the electric chair, and witnessed by the fewest number of officials possible. Every sheriff in the State would welcome release from the grewsome responsibility of putting even the man convicted of the most heinous and revolting crimes.

DON'T DO IT.

To lay hands on a few hundred dollars to which one is justly entitled is all right, but unless one is really in need of the money it is a very foolish thing to accept it. The congress has enacted and the president of these United States has signed the bill granting our World War veterans the privilege of borrowing 50 per cent on their compensation certificates all of which become due, and payable in 1945. The borrowers will be required to pay 4 and one half per cent interest on all loans made, and we are just wondering how many of the veterans who are not in dire need of the money will make application for loans. All such will live to regret their folly, as they may need what is coming to them fourteen years hence far more than they do now. The year 1945 will find them past middle age and their ability and power to earn a livelihood for themselves and their dependents will be far less than it is at present. Our advice, therefore, to every veteran who can "get by" without borrowing on his certificate is "don't do it!"

GETS FINE AND JAIL SENTENCE.

Judge Wiley H. Potter imposed a fine of $100 and sentenced former attorney-general Rush H. Knox to ten days imprisonment in the Hinds county jail last Monday, he being adjudged guilty of "constructive contempt of court." When Knox was called for trial some months ago he handed the sheriff of Hinds county a list of sixty-odd names of men whom he requested that official to summons as jurors, a fact admitted by Knox. Judge Potter, in a scathing denunciation of Knox said: "I think the warning in a case like this ought to be striking and a notice to everybody given that no tampering or attempted tampering with jurors can be tolerated by a self-respecting court. I have been acquainted for many years with the lawyers of the bar and with their course of conduct and dealing, but I have never heard of anything approaching the misconduct of General Knox in this particular instance." Notice of an immediate appeal to the supreme court was given by counsel for Knox and he was released to the custody of his attorneys pending outcome of the appeal.

DID NOT ACCOMPLISH MUCH.

Congress has adjourned but it cannot "point with pride" to any notable achievement in the way of legislation of benefit to the nation. It is true that it passed the bill giving our World War veterans the privilege of borrowing money on their compensation certificates in spite of President Hoover's veto of the measure; but it failed to override his veto of the Muscle Shoals bill. The first measure may bring relief to some needy and penniless men, yet the people of the nation was considerably more interested in having some disposition made of the latter. Hoover is far more in sympathy with the Power Trust than he is with the millions of people whose tax money has been wrapped up in the Muscle Shoals project for the past decade.

ADVERTISING PAYS.

The California Fruit Growers Exchange is a non-profit-making association, made up of citrus fruit growers, who have spent $13,000,000 for advertising "Sunkist" brands since 1907. The other day, in a suit over an alleged infringement of its copyright trade mark, the "good will" of the organization was valued at $1,000,000,000. This may be a high valuation, but there is sufficient margin to admit that advertising pays.

CURRENT COMMENT

For The Sea Coast Echo

THE SUPREME COURT of the United States has reversed the rulings of a lower court and held the Eighteenth Amendment valid. The court below is said to have erred in that it considered the matter not from the view point of the law, but through a "scientific approach to the problem of government." The Supreme Court must be right; but without criticism that was and ought to be body adversely, or expressing any opinion on the prohibition question, the thoughtful reader wonders how the trial judge missed his destination when he followed a path which may be characterized as a "scientific approach to the problem of government."

TRAINING THE MEMORY.

An Englishman, Mr. Bertram Thomas, has crossed six hundred miles of the Arabian Desert, a territory hitherto unknown to the civilized world. He found it impossible to read or write, yet with memories so acute that a message could be passed along for six months by word of mouth, and be delivered verbatim at the end of that time. Those inclined to belittle the historical value of oral tradition overlook the fact that the memory can be trained to be as accurate as the pen.

UTILITY OF AIRSHIP DOUBTFUL.

As a result of the tests recently carried out in the Canal Zone the Navy is doubtful about the utility of the dirigible airship in war time. It is too bulky, too easily seen, and helpless in the matter of self defense. The friends of the dirigible state that it can survey thousands of square miles of sea area in an hour, and that a vessel of that sort now under construction will carry planes capable of warding off attack by the more sprightly type of air craft.

FAILURE OF ITALY AND FRANCE.

One of the principle obstacles in the way of wide-spread peace, and certainly the one most talked about, was the failure of Italy and France to agree upon a naval building program. England took a mediatory hand and sent representatives to Rome for the purpose of talking things over. Peace makers sometimes carry away nothing more satisfactory than a bloody nose. Fortunately, Britain's friendly intervention was not taken amiss, and an agreement was reached.

MORE AUTOS THAN BATHTUBS.

A water-tax row has disclosed the fact that a community in New York state has more autos than bath tubs, a condition which may exist in other places, or even generally. When it comes to a choice between speed and soap, maybe it is better after all, to arrive at a business engagement punctual and pungent than tardy and tubbed.

NEWSPAPER PUBLIC INSTITUTION.

There are few persons capable of reading who have not heard of the New York World. Representatives of the late Joseph Pulitzer, its founder, are at law over the management of the paper, and a clause in Mr. Pulitzer's will has been brought to notice. "I have striven to create and conduct it as a public institution, from motives higher than mere gain," Mr. Pulitzer spoke not only for himself but for the proprietor of the smallest paper in the land. The editor of the local sheet may seem a common sort of man but his vision comprehends more than a balance on the right side of the ledger.

The pinch of hard times does not seem to have been felt in the jazz business. The leader of an orchestra specializing in music of that kind offers no objection when asked to pay his wife six hundred dollars a week alimony.

STATISTICS AND POLITICS.

The population of Kenosha, Racine, Rock, Walworth and Waukesha counties, in the state of Wisconsin, is 268,334. Newspaper readers in Alaska, Arkansas and elsewhere, are entitled to regard these figures, at first glance, as a useless bit of statistics. It happens, however, that the Congressman representing those counties has died, and by his passing, the count of Republican heads in the House of Representatives exactly equals the combined opposition. A new Representative will have to be chosen, and the single voter who makes the population total 268,334 instead of 268,333, may hold the balance of power in matters affecting the entire country.

ABSORBING OVERPLUS OF LABOR.

As a collection of notes under the general head of work, it is observed the present overplus of labor is by instituting a shorter working week. The government may share this view, since Congress has passed a bill making Saturday afternoon a half-holiday for practically all federal employees. The League of Nations is looking into the causes of economic depression, but has not arrived at the point where anything definite has been suggested relative to shortening the hours of employment. The debate which no one seems anxious to stir up, relates to the question as to who, in the end, will bear the loss resulting from a curtailed working period and whether that loss will fall on the class best able to bear it.

Bus For I. C. Road.

The Illinois Central System's second bus, recently placed in operation between Waterloo and Port Dodge, Ia., is pictured in the March issue of the Illinois Central Magazine. This bus seats twenty-five persons and makes one round trip each day. The railroad's first bus has been in operation between Waterloo and Dubuque, Ia., for approximately two years.

VIEWS OF OUR NEWS
By Chicagoan

Chicago, Ill., March 10.—Nothing ever happens in Bay St. Louis! How often you have heard that complaint voiced by some discontented soul. If it were a statement of truth, what a difficult task the publication of such a good newspaper as The Echo would come to be. Well, last week's paper is here, despite the blizzard that's raging around Chicago. Let's see if anything happened in Bay St. Louis last week.

Ah, There'll be something happening on April 17th, anyway. Last week's paper announced that on that evening the outstanding amusement event of the year will take place. Not only will the performance of "Footlight Follies," be outstanding from the standpoint of entertainment, but no social affair ever had for its object a more worthy one. Every cent realized by the sponsor, the Bay St. Louis Rotary Club, will be devoted to the night school fund of that worthy organization. In Bay St. Louis, as in most other places, there are countless boys and girls who have the desire and the will to obtain an education, but there are circumstances which keep them at work during the daytime. The Rotary is meeting the need of such by providing night courses which allow the willing and the desiring to accomplish their aims. The prices of admission to the coming entertainment will be low. Every ticket purchased will further the education of needy and deserving people. Nothing more need be said. "Footlight Follies," will draw one of the biggest houses ever known in Bay St. Louis.

The it-m last week which called attention to the growth of the political announcement caused me to look over the names appearing in it last week. Not too many, as yet, but I'm sure there are more candidates for the state office than are already in print, as well as a large number of aspirants for county positions who will soon publish their names. There's something definite about the printed announcement. Up to the time of its appearance, voters are liable to regard a candidacy as little more than a rumor. Once the name is seen, the candidacy takes on its proper proportions.

"Should Aid Acquaintance be forgot?" Indeed it should not. And so says Mrs. H. A. Ferrandou, who according to last week's Echo, recently visited with Mrs. E. J. Leonard and other friends. The Echo says that the New Orleans lady never loses her interest in Bay St. Louis. She must be proud of her old home, for I see that she enjoys showing it to her friends from distant points.

The news comes from Waveland, through the work of our good correspondent there, that on February 24, little Patricia Ann Biggs was one day old. The sun will rise and set many thousands of times ere she reaches the age of some of those who love her best. Is there an Echo reader hardy enough to predict with certainty what will happen between now and then?

Not to slight the many other good things in last week's paper, do I make special mention of the prose poem by John T. Meyers. Those of his readers who have lived in the great Southwest must have appreciated his words most. Then there were those who can with justice state that a much prettier poem state that a much prettier poem could have been written about the Bay Country. And they will probably be given the opportunity to read just such a poem from the pen of Mr. Meyers when that talented gentleman again visits the Gulf Coast.

War, according to one who should know, partakes of many of the same qualities as a certain torrid region to which fanatics would consign all who do not agree with them. That is one kind of war, another variety is in progress on the Gulf Coast, and as a result, the price of gasoline is dropping in different points at different degrees of speed. Nobody will attach horror names to that kind of a war—except the dealers who may have been caught with huge stocks of oil on their hands.

Now, say what's happened! At the end of my space—and the paper only half read.

New Jersey is thinking of wiping out speed limits on auto traffic. It might as well be done. There are few drivers who, in the exercise of sound judgment, do not break a speed limit at least once a day. Laws which accomplish little beside creating a dangerous precedent for lawless drivers, and for law, had better be taken off the statute books.

More than 73,000 miles in a New Ford

THE substantial worth of the new Ford is reflected in its good performance, economy and reliability. Its stamina and endurance are particularly apparent in sections where bad roads and severe weather put a heavy extra burden on the automobile.

In less than a year a new Ford Tudor Sedan was driven more than seventy-three thousand miles over a difficult route. The operating cost per mile was very low and practically the only expense for repairs was for new piston rings and a new bearing for the generator.

The car carried an average load of 1200 pounds of mail and was driven 250 miles daily. "The Ford has never failed to go when I was ready," writes one of the three mail carriers operating the car. "The starter did the trick last winter even at 34 degrees below zero. The gas runs about 20 miles per gallon. At times I pull a trailer whenever I have a bulky load."

Many other Ford owners report the same satisfactory performance. Every part has been made to endure—to serve you faithfully and well for many thousands of miles.

BAY ST. LOUIS, MISS.The Veto Power A Menace.

President Hoover has not helped his chances for re-election by his veto of the Wagner bill which would have set up machinery to take care of unemployment in this country. Senator Wagner is quoted as saying that "the president has failed every man who is out pounding the pavements in search of work," and that he has disappointed the forces of labor in the country which "for three years have been enthusiastically and zealously advocating" the measure. "We cannot imagine any blunder of the world's greatest engineer," he would have driven support from him than his veto of the Wagner bill, and its effect will be registered by organized and unorganized labor in the next election.

Pitting his opinion against the combined wisdom of congress, and his frequent use of the veto power, impels the Mobile Register to make the following comment: "The president defied the sentiment of the people when he vetoed it, and at the same time outraged the rights of the American congress. This particular veto is becoming a real danger in this country and it is about time for congress to assert its rights and powers to overcome this despotic interference with its rights to legislate for the American people." Unless the power of the president is checked, and curbed in this particular, the people of this country may soon find themselves under a dictatorship wholly out of accord with the fundamentals of the American political system.

PENNANT WINNING ODDS

CARNERA'S SHOWING

RICHARDS VS. TILDEN

Well, for once, we are going to desert the news from the training camps, and the hope of the experts, and let you have the figures quoted by Tom Kearney, said to be an authority on betting odds all over the country. He sizes up the races in the two big leagues as follows:

American League.	Odds
Philadelphia	7 to 10
Washington	3 to 1
New York	4 to 1
Cleveland	8 to 1
Detroit	20 to 1
St. Louis	100 to 1
Chicago	100 to 1
Boston	100 to 1

National League.

St. Louis	5 to 2
Brooklyn	5 to 2
Chicago	5 to 2
Pittsburgh	6 to 2
New York	6 to 2
Philadelphia	60 to 2
Boston	80 to 2
Cincinnati	100 to 2

Kearney expects the hottest race in the history of the National League, as only even money is offered against the second place chances of the Cards, Cubs, Robins, Giants and Pirates.

In the American League dope all clubs are figured to finish just as they did in 1930. Odds offered against St. Louis, Chicago and Boston are the highest ever quoted in the major leagues and larger than those against any National League contender.

Carnera's position as a contender in the heavyweight division might be considered improved in view of his decision over Maloney at Miami, but from word received, the fistic ability of the man-mountain did not loom on the horizon in any convincing fashion. In fact, many observers thought that Maloney should have had the decision.

Of course, the Italian behemoth has a cracked rib alibi, but even so, if he is of the championship type that his supporters claim, he ought to have done better. May be, he really hurt, or he was to that effect, might help him out. If he had knocked Jimmy cold he would have been lined up for a fight with, say Sharkey, if he won, a chance at the winner of the Stribling-Schmeling fight.

Last fall Vincent Richards won the pro title as the best outdoor player, beating Karel Kozeluh and this winter Big Bill Tilden is showing that he has the number of European on the indoor courts. A meeting between Tilden and Richards is being cooked up now. Richards, it is said, is in hard training and Tilden shows excellent form in his matches with Kozeluh. While Big Bill beat Richards for a number of years their last battle occurred in 1926 when Vincent took three out of five sets. Age is largely in favor of Richards, who is 27, and while Tilden is 38, he seems to be able to keep the surprising form regardless of his years.

Help the Railways to recover their Earning Capacity

The general public does not seem to realize, or fully appreciate, that the railroads are not earning what their investment calls for, or even what the law of the land permits them to earn.

Under this law they may earn 5% percent on the value of their property (there is no "guarantee"), but for the past ten years they have never reached this in any single year, and the average for these years has been only slightly above four percent—a return entirely inadequate for a vital industry. This has resulted notwithstanding the railroads have reduced their expenses by 27.7 percent.

Among the causes for this shortage have been reductions in freight rates (amounting to 15.6 percent) and a decline in traffic due to competing forms of transportation—pipe lines, waterways, highways—which are either subsidized by governmental aid or are not tied down by the same degree of restrictions as to regulation, supervision and taxation that the railroads are.

The public is entitled to the form of transportation it prefers, but that preference should be expressed only after all conditions are considered. At present the conditions are grossly inequitable.

The railroads, because of their large investments, their important payrolls, their heavy purchases, their enormous taxes, and their indispensable part in the development and progress of this country, have some claim to public patronage if they can give satisfactory service—which they are doing. They have a right to equal and fair treatment. They have a right to urge that competitors in the public transportation business shall not be unduly favored. They have a right to ask for equal conditions in the field of competition. This they are asking for—and nothing more.

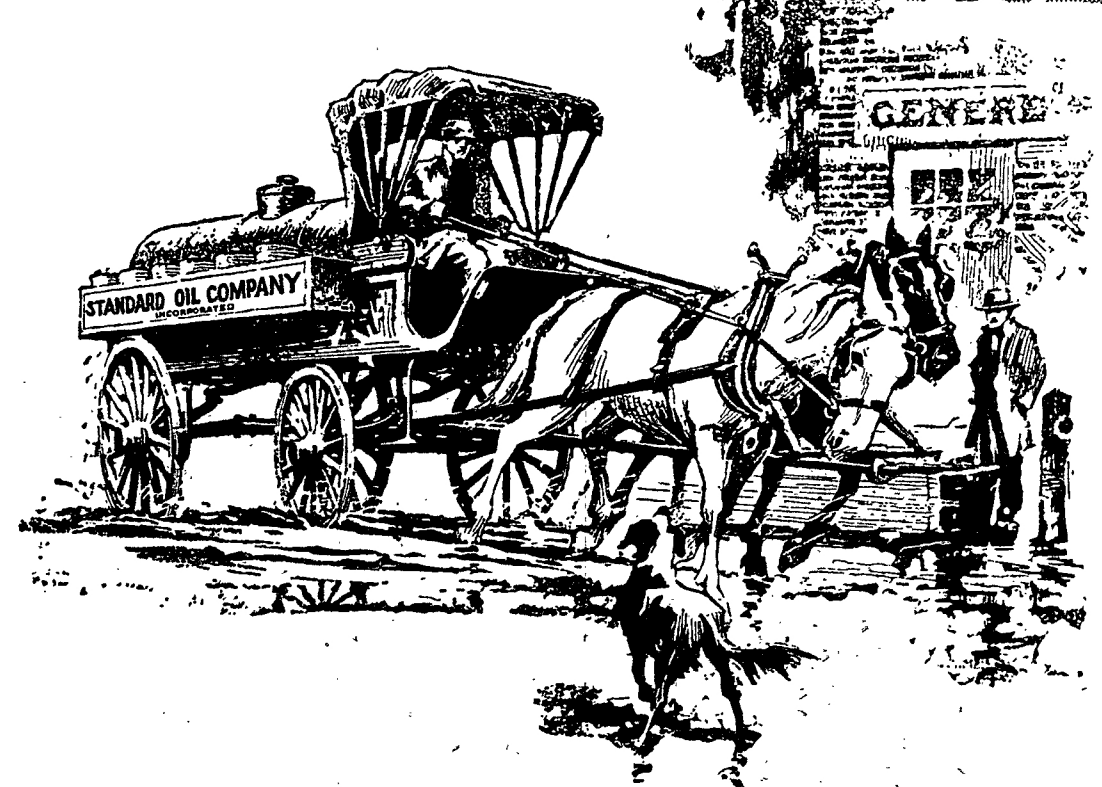

You can help them by traveling and shipping by train, and by insisting that they be given fair and just treatment.

Felt Bad After Eating

"Before I started taking Black-Draught, three years ago, my health was very bad," writes Mrs. C. C. Carson, 945 Concord St., Beaumont, Texas. "I suffered constantly from constipation. I had headache when I got up in the morning, and I felt dull and sluggish. I hardly ate a meal that my food agreed with me. Frequently I would have gas on my stomach, and felt awful."

"I read about Black-Draught, and I thought it might help me. After I had taken it a little while, I felt much better. It relieved constipation. "After I was married, I found myself in a weak, run-down condition. I suffered a great deal with my back, which was so weak it hurt me to get up or when I would stand on my feet. I fell off in weight."

CHARLES FARRELL HAS NEW SWEETHEART IN FOX DRAMA

Elissa Landi, Who Plays Opposite Popular Star In "Body and Soul" Is His Fourth Movie Flame Of Current Season.

There was a time when Charles Farrell was never seen on the screen except in the company of that dainty star Janet Gaynor. They made their initial success together in "Seventh Heaven," and climbed side by side to stardom in "Street Angel," "Sunny Side Up," and "High Society Blues."

This season, however, Farrell has appeared with three different leading ladies, not counting Miss Gaynor, with whom he recently scored so heavily in "The Man Who Came Back."

Early in the year he interpreted the title role in the Fox Movietone drama, "Liliom" opposite the stage star, Rose Hobart. Then came the light comedy romance, "The Princess And The Plumber," in which he played the plumber with that detectable lass, Maureen O'Sullivan as his princess.

In "Body and Soul," which will be at the A. G. Theater, Sunday and Monday, Farrell's new leading lady is Elissa Landi. Miss Landi, who makes her American screen debut in this Fox Movietone drama, is the English actress who proved a real sensation in European films and on the Broadway stage previous to her coming to Hollywood.

Farrell recently said of Miss Landi: "She is one of the most capable and understanding actresses I have ever been my privilege to play opposite. I fell safe in predicting that within the year she will rank with the biggest of the screen's drawing cards. Feminine stars would be wise to watch their laurels."

DID YOU RECEIVE A BIRTH CERTIFICATE FOR YOUR BABY?

The Mississippi State Board of Health sends to every white mother, and to every colored mother attended by a physician, a photograph of her baby's birth certificate—an exact picture of the record, just as it was prepared and filed by the attending physician with the local registrar.

These "photostats," as they are called, are mailed out once a month by the Bureau of Vital Statistics; but the babies are usually six to eight weeks old by the time this is done, because all the birth records must be received put in order and numbered, before the photographing can be done.

If a mother does not receive her baby's certificate within a few weeks after it is born, the chances are that her physician has neglected his plain duty to file the record with the local registrar. This is such an important matter that the mother should not fail to call the doctor's attention to the fact that she has not received the certificate.

The mother should name her baby within the first week, and either call the doctor on the phone or drop him a card so he can place the name on the birth certificate. Surely no mother would want her baby named "Infant" on the records of the State Board of Health.

"Casey" Jones.

The man who completed "Casey" Jones' run after the accident which cost that song-famed Illinois Central System engineer his life has just been pensioned by the railroad, according to the March issue of the Illinois Central Magazine. He is Harry A. Norton of Memphis, engineer on the Mississippi Division who retires with a service record of nearly forty years, the last thirty-one years of which were on the run "Casey," never finished. Recently in a class of 110, Mr. Norton and his only grandson, Harry N. Conley received the thirty-second degree of Masonry at the same time.

SPORTS AT STANISLAUS

BOXING.

The boxing team of Stanislaus gave its second exhibition last Friday and was just as spirited as the first. Mr. Vic Lizana handled all the bouts in his usual manner. There were eleven bouts on the card with the pairings as follows: J. Glover vs. Redmann; Toarmina vs. Villa; M. Gonzalez vs. Hammer; Reine vs. E. Blaize; D. Glover vs. T. Gordon; Foster vs. Falchetto; Burguies vs. Trepan; G. Benedetto vs. Motky; Smythe vs. Matherne; Colson vs. Kathman; Hobbs vs. Castro.

The local team takes on the Moss Point High School scrappers this Friday night. The bouts will naturally have more action than heretofore as there will be outside opposition. The visitors have had some experience, having taken on a Mobile school recently. The first bout will be called at 8 sharp. Get in early if you want to have a good seat.

JUNIOR'S DEFEAT "125 POUNDS."

Last Sunday afternoon Brother Conrad, coach of the Junior Basketball team, sent his team against coach George Loca in a very interesting game. It was necessary to play three minutes extra as the teams were tied at 23 all when the regular period of play was ended.

Raymond Kidd captain of the Junior squad, proved to be the outstanding man on the floor. He put a determination to win spirit into his team mates when he opened fire in the first quarter with a field goal. It was he who shot the winning two points in the overtime period. Billy Reinhard showed the making of a wonderful little player when he got in and used his height to advantage. Great credit is to be handed to Claud "Buck" Quintini for his breaking up the opponents plays. Stakelum also made things sort of uneasy for the 125 pound team at times. Leo Blaize was high point man. Monti was mean under the basket. A good sized crowd witnessed the game. Billy Schwartz played a stellar game for the fighting to the end losers. His side shots nearly played a mean trick on the Juniors. Hicks, a substitute forward, worked well.

CHAIRMAN RASKOB AND PROHIBITION

(Editorial)

As scheduled there was a meeting of the National Democratic Executive Committee held in Washington on March 5, and Chairman Raskob touched off a whole bunch of fireworks when he made an address in which he advocated repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment and substituted therefor State control of liquor. In this he was supported by Al Smith, our 1928 nominee for the presidency. The suggestion met with instant disapproval by a majority of the committee, who were unwilling to commit the Democratic party to any such plan.

We believe that it is entirely too early for either the committee—even if it had the power or any precedent to do so—to state that prohibition should be a main issue in the next campaign. It is the province of the platform committee appointed after the assembling of the national convention to adopt the platform upon which the campaign shall be waged. That a definite stand will be taken by the party with reference to the prohibition question we have not the least doubt, and there was neither reason nor good sense in Chairman Raskob bringing the matter up and provoking an acrimonious discussion among the members of the committee.

There is not an intelligent person in the country who does not realize that enforcement of the prohibition laws has been a farce from the day of their enactment, and to put an end to bottling, and the crime and bribery which results from it will be necessary to amend present laws which have produced a wholesale disregard for all law by a large element of our citizenship.

There is a wide division of sentiment among both Democrats and Republicans as to which is the best policy to pursue when it comes time for the launching of their platforms.

One party has as much chance for losing on gaining support as the other. We all know that the Southern States are overwhelmingly for prohibition, yet they would never desert the Democratic party even if its standard-bearers in the next national campaign were soaking "wet." We also know that California, Illinois, Pennsylvania, New York, Massachusetts and several other northern and eastern States are as "wet" as this section is "dry," therefore, we are of the opinion no harm would result from the adoption of a platform plank favoring modification of the existing laws with regard to the manufacture, sale and transportation of alcoholic liquors.

It is a foregone conclusion that President Hoover will again be the Republican nominee in 1932, and every effort possible will be made by him to have his party straddle the issue, hence, in the event of his election no hope would be held out for relief from the intolerable conditions which have been bred by adoption of the Eighteenth Amendment.

There is no desire on the part of any decent and law-abiding man or woman—North, East, West or South—Democrat or Republican, who wishes for a return of the open saloon, yet with all the evils which its presence entailed, it was better than what now curses our country from one end to the other. After more than a decade of trial, the enforcement of the present laws has proven a down-right failure and during the same period crime, corruption and lawlessness has increased by leaps and bounds.

What the NEW HUMIDOR PACK means to Camel Smokers*

COMPARE a package of Camels with any other cigarette and note the difference in the technique of packing.

Note that Camels are completely enclosed in an outer transparent cover of moisture-proof cellophane and sealed air-tight at every point.

We call this outer shell the Humidor Pack. It differs from the ordinary cellophane pack and while it is egg-shell thin, it means a lot in terms of cigarette enjoyment.

It means, for instance, that evaporation is checkmated and that Salt Lake City can now have as good Camels as Winston-Salem.

While Camels are made of a blend of the choicest Turkish and mellowest domestic tobaccos, it is highly important, if you are to get full benefit of this quality, that these cigarettes come to you with their natural moisture content still intact.

The Humidor Pack insures that. It prevents the fine tobaccos of Camels from drying out and losing any of their delightful flavor.

Aside from cheap tobacco, two factors in a cigarette can mar the smoker's pleasure:

Fine particles of peppery dust if left in the tobacco by inefficient cleaning methods sting and irritate delicate throat membrane.

Dry tobacco, robbed of its natural moisture by scorching or by evaporation gives off a hot smoke that burns the throat with every inhalation.

We take every precaution against these factors here at Winston-Salem.

A special vacuum cleaning apparatus removes dust and now the new Humidor Pack prevents dryness.

Check the difference yourself. It is a very simple matter to check the difference between Humidor Packed

Camels and other ordinary dry cigarettes.

First of all you can feel the difference as you roll the cigarettes between your fingers. Camels are full-bodied and pliable. A dry cigarette crumbles under pressure and sheds tobacco.

If you will hold a cigarette to each ear and roll them with your fingers you can actually hear the difference.

The real test of course is to smoke them. And here's where the new Humidor Pack proves a real blessing to the smoker.

As you inhale the cool, fragrant smoke from a Camel you get all the mildness and magic of the fine tobaccos of which it is blended.

But when you draw in the hot smoke from a dried cigarette see how flat and brackish it is by comparison and how harsh it is to your throat.

If you are a regular Camel smoker you have already noticed what proper condition of the cigarette means.

But if you haven't tried Camels in the new Humidor Pack you have a new adventure with Lady Nicotine in store.

Switch your affections for just one day, then go back to your old love tomorrow if you can.

The women were given corresponding numbers and when a prospective bride came from the cabin she would take the man whose number corresponded to hers. Shortly after this incident the more prominent of the filibusters decided to procure a grant from the Spanish Government chartering the town, and naming it Shieldsboro, after a famous General in the Spanish army.

"Very little is known of the history of Bay St. Louis from this period up to the time immediately preceding the Civil War, however, we find that families came from San Domingo and Haiti to this particular section. The extreme northern part of the city was inhabited by these foreigners and the direct descendants of the filibusters. The most prominent families, being the Covans and Fields who owned a plantation located where the present "Elmwood Manor" now stands. This was one of the largest plantations in these parts, the cotton fields extending from the beach to Jordan river. Other families found at the northern end at this time were the Labats, Pradues, Pierpas, Lessassier and Di-ragada, also a Mrs. DeMenier living near the Peoples Oyster Factory site. This doctor, as she was called, ran a combined hotel and hospital. She was one of the immigrants from Haiti during their revolution, and gained fame not only as a well known in all-inhabited cities for her famous cures. The rest of "the Bay" was inhabited by prominent families who lived in New Orleans and kept summer homes here. The City Hall was at the head of Carroll avenue and the town boasted two commercial wharves, one at the head of Washington street called Martin's wharf, and the other at Ulman avenue, known as the "Crescent" wharf, owned and operated by J. V. Toulme, who came from San Domingo and became one of the largest property owners in the city.

"During the Civil War the city of Shieldsboro served as a 'hide out' for the young men who did not desire to take part in the fight. As a matter of fact there was a home here crowded with these men. Incidentally, this home was run by a negro. Shieldsboro suffered as all the South did at this time. While there was no actual fighting here the effect was felt as strenuously as General Butler was stationed at Ship Island and made frequent visits here seeking food and provisions. He would take what ever boats he could find floating and those not completed he destroyed. A story is told of how he found a ship in the making at Lewis' Ship Yard located where Dr. Lewis' home now stands and being unable to use the boat immediately set fire to it, destroying the whole yard. The real hero of this period, however, was the most Reverend Father Henry LeDuc. This most reverend man would take the local products and bring them north to exchange for other necessities of life.

"After the Civil War the financial situation in the city of Shieldsboro was such that it faced insolvency. The only hope lay in a change of charter which was accomplished through a Mr. Seay who was at that time a member of the legislature. He took it upon himself to have the charter changed and called the city as it is now known, Bay St. Louis.

"Shortly after the Civil War we find that a railroad was constructed which naturally hampered the trade of the steamboat and in a few years the steamboat ceased traveling in this part.

"An elaborate history might be given of the City of Bay St. Louis and all minute details gone into, however, time does not permit me to go any further into this and the principal events which have occurred since the Civil War, I know, are known to most of you.

BEAUTIFUL SHOWER FOR MISS KATHERINE SAUCIER OF PASS CHRISTIAN.

Miss Katherine Saucier, beautiful young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Saucier, of Pass Christian, was the honoree at a linen shower given Saturday afternoon from 4 to 6 o'clock by Miss Del Bondio and Miss Marie E. Bertrand at their home, "Blue Heaven," on the West End Pass Christian beach.

Miss Saucier is to become the bride of Mr. Wm. V. Robinson, well-known young banker on the evening of Friday, March 20, the wedding taking place at Trinity Episcopal Church, one of the fashionable functions of the season anticipated by many.

For the interesting occasion last Saturday afternoon the spacious interior of "Blue Heaven" was decorated with a wealth of white Brides roses, in profuse bunches in the reception salon and in the dining room. The color motif of green and white was carried out faithfully to the most minute detail, even to the cakes with icing of green and white and ices in the double colors.

The dining room contained a center piece of gorgeous Brides roses, and a number of smaller silver vases carried smaller schemes of the same, intermingled with the dainty and fragrant blossoms of "snow drops." Long ribbons of white and green tulle from the main lighting chandelier extended down to the four corners of the table, in graceful festoons. On one end a cut glass punch bowl and silver cups added to the picture of this lovely table and from which refreshment was served throughout the afternoon.

The table in the reception room carried similar floral treatment and festoons of tulle of green and white was striking in tasty decorative effect. One tall basket carried tall-stemmed Easter lilies of immaculate white. Other baskets carried great bunches of Brides roses.

The arch, under which the bride-elect sat to receive the "shower," was in white and studded with white camellia japonicas, cleverly interlaced with the most delicate of fern in ingatiating garlands. The handsomeness of an artistic genius pervaded throughout and it was evident that a wealth of rare flowers from the hothouse had been used to an advantage of both beauty and enhancement.

The guests were received by the hostesses of the afternoon, Miss Del Bondio in her well-known gracious manner, flock of georgette crepe of equal charm. Miss Del Bondio wore for the occasion a spring creation of georgette of wisteria with a corsage bouquet of sweet pea blossoms to match. Miss Bertrand wore an afternoon frock of georgette crepe of Nile green, with corsage bouquet to match, and wore a necklace of diamond stone pendants with long earrings and bracelet to match, the latter a recent gift of much beauty and value. Mrs. Quincy Cutrer, Miss Bertrand's aunt, who assisted in receiving, wore most becomingly a late creation of flowered blue chiffon. Her corsage bouquet was of camellia japonicas and blue forget-me-nots.

The beauty of the bride-to-be was accentuated by a pink chiffon with flowers to match and her loveliness was heightened by happiness of the occasion. She was accompanied by her mother, Mrs. A. P. Saucier, while the mother of the groom-elect, Mrs. W. D. Robinson was also present. Both mothers standing on each side of the floral shower arch.

The bride-to-be was seated in a furlet while over her head hung a net-like receptacle containing a number of the gifts. The short pull of a string and the smaller gifts fell the graceful profusion. Surrounding the seat of attraction were boxes of various sizes piled in numerous of interest and mystery, proving so intriguing and keeping up the interest of the guests during the major part of the afternoon, were opened. Miss Bertrand and Mrs. Saucier, mother of the honoree, carrying out this pleasant task. Each package revealed dainty and beautiful gifts, different and compelling to the sense of admiration till finally the end had come and here were piled high tributes of love and affection from the friends who had assembled in gala afternoon to show their love and to manifest the esteem and to register their good wishes for both the bride and groom-to-be. No gesture prettier than this shower could have proven more of an attestation to the popularity of this young couple than this affair, fairy-like in its conception, artistic in execution and poetic in contemplation.

Among those present for this pleasurable occasion the following were noted:

Miss Mae Abbley, Mrs. C. Bidwell Adam, Mrs. Hazel Adam Woods, Mrs. Albert Andresen, Mrs. L. H. Barksdale, Mrs. E. E. Christovitch, Mrs. George Courtenay, Miss Drusilla Courtenay, Mrs. Alec Cunningham, Miss Jennie Farrell, Miss Katie Fitzpatrick, Mrs. D. Ford, Mrs. C. S. Gunn, Miss M.
